TIP OF THE WEEK

Around the world, including here in the U.S., we witness the basic rights of people being stripped away. Some of these rights are as severe as we've seen in history, like freedom from slavery and torture, and the right to free speech. Others are ones we find ourselves fighting for every day in our communities, like freedom from discrimination and the right to a fair trial.

Here are 6 ways to begin to stand in support of human rights:

1. Speak up for those you care about
2. Volunteer or donate to a global organization
3. Choose fair trade and ethically sourced items and gifts
4. Listen to others stories
5. Stay connected with social movements
6. Stand up against discrimination
