TIP OF THE WEEK

This month we celebrate the contributions made to our country by African Americans. What better way to honor and recognize Black History Month than by engagement involving diversity and inclusion. We've highlighted several events happening on campus and in the community this month. And, here are a few ideas of other ways you can honor Black History month:

- * Support Black-Owned Businesses
- * Donate to charities that support anti-racism equity, social justice and equality
- * Purchase, read, and share books by Black authors
- * Attend in-person and virtual Black History Month celebrations.
