

Margaret, The Lady Thatcher, Award for Scholarship, Character and Service

QUALIFICATIONS FOR AWARD

- ✓ For Graduate Students
- ✓ For any SOE Major
- ✓ Must be eligible to participate in May commencement ceremony
- ✓ Department must nominate one student

In 2000 Margaret Frances Harmon and Margaret C. and Larry A. Hauben of the School of Education Development Board established the Margaret, The Lady Thatcher, Award for Scholarship, Character, and Service. The medallion is to be awarded each year by the Dean at the School of Education Diploma Ceremony.

Lady Thatcher's devotion to the College is a reflection of her life-long advocacy of the paramount importance of education in society. Whether serving Great Britain as Minister of Education and Science, addressing the needs of higher education before the Virginia General Assembly, or simply meeting with students in a Williamsburg high school, Lady Thatcher has emphasized the importance of education for achieving individual potential and ensuring the future of democracy. Her abiding focus on education and public service is consonant with the priorities of the School of Education and William & Mary. We are indebted to her for her steadfast loyalty and friendship and for the energetic enthusiasm she brought to her role as Chancellor.

The sole purpose of this medallion award is to recognize a graduate student who embodies the traits of scholarship, character, and service within the School of Education and the William & Mary community. If there are no students nominated or if there are no nominees who appear eligible to receive the medallion then the Dean may nominate an extraordinary individual for the medallion.
